TERSCHELLING, Holland, Oct. 2.—A new process of salvaging and buried treasure of the gold cargo of the British frigate Lutue, which has baffled a century's efforts, has just been put into operation here with every promise of success.

The Lutue was wrecked on a sandbank near this island during a violent gale in the night of October 9, 1792. Her crew of over 400 perished. Her cargo consisted of several million dollars worth of gold bars and specie.

Fifty feet of sand covers the wreck and repeated efforts have resulted only in the recovery of about half a million dollars and the ships bell, now at Lloyds in London. At first divers were put to work, but later machinery was used to get at the wreck through the thick layer of sand by means of suction pumps.

Now a new apparatus, invented by a Dutch engineering firm is being tried. It does away with the suction process and substitutes hydraulic pressure. A tube is driven into the sand and steel grapples at the bottom seize any objects beneath it. The machine can work in any weather that is not too rough for the salvage vessel to be out.

CRIES "NO, NO" AT MENTION WALTON

Third of Audience Leaves Auditorium When Support Walton Is Advocated.

Girls Want to Aid Japs in Aviation

TOKIO, Oct. 2.—Public interest in aviation in Japan, stimulated by the flights of American, British and French aviators to and across Japan during recent months and also by the army and navy propaganda for larger air forces, is turning into practical contributions to the cause of aviation extension.

There have been several contributions for this purpose recently, not long ago 15 goshu girls, living in the fashionable Shimbashi district, applied for membership in the imperial aviation association, the organization which is fostering civilian support of the army and navy expansion programs. The girls sent a note to the association's headquarters saying they wanted to see aviation in Japan developed enough to make possible Japanese flight around the world.

River Bandits Make Specialty of Women

Associated Press

GALATZ, Rumania, Oct. 2.—Operating up and down the Danube river in a powerful motor boat armed with a machine gun, Terenti, the notorious pirate is still at large despite the united efforts of large Rumanian and Hungarian police to catch him. One of his late adventures was to fight his way through a company of Rumanian soldiers near Braila.

Terenti makes a specialty of capturing for ransom, and he prefers to gather in women and children of well-to-do families. He shows consideration to the poor fishermen and farmers along the river, who are friendly to him as a result, and warn him of the activities of the police. He recently found two girls who had been bathing in the river near Galatz and whisked them away in his speedy boat before they could make an outcry.

GAME FISH CLUB TO HAVE MEETING

A meeting of the Middlesboro Fish and Game Club will take place at the City Hall tonight according to announcement made today. The public is cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Game is scarce, gun clubs and sportsmen's associations are beginning to realize this condition of affairs, but little impression has been made on the fraternity at large. Now is the time for action and the action is simple as it will be necessarily effective. First, last and all the time, we must bring about a better feeling between the farmer and the sportsman. The farmer must be assured that the day of willful trespass is over, that there will be no countenancing among our clan of wanton damage done to the farmers property, that we will meet him on the footing of sportsmanship," declared a member of the club.

"A favored few have plenty of time for hunting and fishing, our interests centers on the nearby country, accessible in the open for a few hours of real sport. This necessarily means going on the property owned by the farmer—property that is being posted as rapidly as possible. Most of the farmers are good sportsmen and usually extend a welcome to the chap who acts the part of the sportsman. The blame in most cases for posting property can be laid at the door of the hunter or fisherman who seems to revel in acts of vandalism. Right here let me emphasize a point the farmer and landowner post their property because of broken fences, undone gates, injured stock, fruit trees damaged or his dog is shot, or drinking and carousing through his property without permission. Most all farmers are friendly to good sportsmen, and if we do the right thing, we will usually receive the same treatment.

"As a final word, play the game fair, as a sportsman should, share the burden of the farmer and landowner. Our club is to protect the landowner in which he has the authority. The real sportsman is the fellow that wants to play the game right himself and intends to make the other fellow do it, who has a full appreciation of the consideration to be shown the farmer, who is willing and anxious to meet and act with the farmer on an equal footing in the broad domain of sportsmanship, who desires to share the pleasure and assume his share of the responsibility."

PASSPORTS LURE EXPERT THIEVES

Scores Passage Certificates Are Stolen From Hotels and Steamers.

By Associated Press

HAMBURG, Oct. 2.—American passports and foreign passports issued by the United States are now worth their weight in gold in central Europe, and passport thieves are busy on trains in hotels, and on steamers and wharves.

Scores of stolen passports are reported weekly to American consular officials. It is a frequent occurrence for a foreigner who has obtained a "visé" document for America to have his papers stolen before he sails.

Americans are warned by consular officers to keep the numbers of their passports and make speedy reports of theft to the nearest consular office so that the papers may be cancelled from Washington and steps taken to prevent imposters from reacting the United States. Travelers are warned not to leave their passports in their luggage, even if it is locked, and advised to carry them in their inside pockets beyond the reach of sneak thieves.

The situation has become particularly bad since the new American immigration law went into effect. There are evidences that organized gangs are dealing in papers supposed to guarantee entrance to America. Forgers can easily change names and photographs and altered passports will probably come to grief sooner or later, there are so many persons clamoring for admission to the United States that sharpers find a ready market for their stolen wares.

KU KLUX CASE GOES TO JURY

Defendant Charged With Violating Ordinance Prohibiting Masks.

Trial of Henry Potter on charges of wearing a mask in violation of a city ordinance took place in the city court this afternoon and went to the jury at 3 o'clock. The jury had not reported at 3:45.

Police officers, witnesses for the prosecution stated that they arrested the defendant during an initiation at a field in the East End Friday night, and that he was wearing a mask.

Mr. Potter and other witnesses who testified for the defense claimed that he was not masked but that the wind had blown the covering over his face and that he immediately lifted it with his left hand.

In this connection the defense sought to make it a point that Chief Ball recognized Mr. Potter and called him by name.

The trial was featured by outbursts of applause from the audience. L. K. Rice, prosecuting attorney, objected to this and the court ordered the spectators to remain quiet or leave the room.

This case is considered an important one, it being the first trial on charge of wearing a mask in this city, possibly in the state.

A hung jury resulted in the trial of Henry Potter, charged with wearing a mask in violation of a city ordinance during a Ku Klux Klan ceremony in the East End Friday night. The jury, composed of five women and one man, were unable to agree upon a verdict.

EDUCATION TO CURE BAD EYES

Elimination of Hazards From the Workers' Eyes Is Being Sought.

Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The greatest possibilities for the elimination of the unnecessary eye hazards of industrial occupations lie in education, according to the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, which has been studying the question of eye hazards over a period of two years. The committee's labors have extended into practically every industry and every state in the union, and its report is a document of 250 pages.

"There should be education of the state as to its moral and economic obligations," the report declares, "education of the employer as to the desirability, from his own point of view, of supplying adequate protection for the eyes of his employees, and education of the employee, particularly the old-fashioned and so-called hard-boiled employee, as to the necessity of using that protection when it is provided."

"Some states do not yet require even the reporting of industrial accidents. Others require such reports, but make no effort to set up safety standards of lighting and sanitation codes for the guidance or observance of their industries."

In his recommendation to municipalities, Mr. Dublin suggested that they secure the facts on the prevalence of injuries and fatalities and apply whatever corrective measures that seem necessary."

"Keep and maintain accident spot maps to get a knowledge of critical local situations and organize their local program of control on the basis of the showing on the maps."

"Maintain maps on traffic movement and encourage uniform state legislation for traffic accident reporting."

37 KILLED BY AUTOS DAILY IN ONE YEAR

Total of 84,000 Meet Death From Accidents.

"JAY WALKERS" DIE

Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 2.—Eighty-four thousand lives were lost in the United States last year as the result of accidents. The death toll amounted to 1,462 per week of 209 per day. Automobile accidents headed the list with 37 deaths per day. Falls killed 36 per day, and drownings, 19 and railroad accidents 18.

These figures, supplied by Louis J. Dublin, New York, chairman of the committee on public accident statistics, National Safety Council in his report to that body at their annual congress here, shows that the annual cost of traffic accidents vary from $15 to $30 per capita, he said.

George Guy Kelcey, Elizabeth, N. J., manager of the traffic engineering division, said that from a study of accidents covering many cities and towns it was indicated that most accidents do not occur in business or congested areas or along heavily traveled streets.

"More accidents occur at street intersections than elsewhere," he said. "But about three fourths of these result in property damage only. Half of the injuries and the deaths due to traffic appear to be in the middle of the block. From one-third to one-fourth of these obviously are 'jay walkers'."

"America's accident death rate is 678 deaths per million of population. England and Wales has a rate of 321 per million of population."

"The automobile death rate in 1922 was more than five times the rate of 1911. We are confronted with a grave situation when the death rate for just one source of hazard races away and shows no signs of diminution. The chief concern of the accident prevention movement is the intimate study of the causes and the means of control of automobile accidents. This is not an academic question for the statistical scholar, but an emergency issue which every citizen, every legislator and every government official must face and successfully surmount," he declared.

"Apart from humanitarian considerations automobiles have a significance from the economic standpoint. One important item of expense which is borne by the motorist is the cost of liability insurance. Insurance companies figure the cost of accidents by the number of accidents in relation to the number of cars operated. High rates are to be found in New York City and low ones in the south and far west."

In his recommendation to municipalities, Mr. Dublin suggested that they secure the facts on the prevalence of injuries and fatalities and apply whatever corrective measures that seem necessary."

"Keep and maintain accident spot maps to get a knowledge of critical local situations and organize their local program of control on the basis of the showing on the maps."

OCTOBER IS BEST TIME FOR DRIVING

FRANKFORT, Oct. 2.—October, the most popular motoring month of the year, V. P. Ligon, office engineer of the state highway department, said today, also lends the driver frequently to forget some of the fundamentals of his safety in handling the car.

"Each motorist has just that many more ears to look out for," he said. "What leaves on the highways present a constant hazard to motorists who fail to keep their minds on the business of driving safely. Leaf skidding is particularly dangerous in the early morning when the sun has not had an opportunity to dry out the dew that is held under the leaves."

QUEEN Associated Press

ROME, Oct. 2.—Queen Elena of Italy has a mother's heart and an exceedingly sharp eye for anyone, especially any child, who seems to be needy or in trouble. Recently when the Queen was motoring near San Rocco the hunting lodge in Tuscany where the royal family spends the summer months, she saw a little girl or felled or ten years old, barefoot and clothed only in a few rags.

Calling the child Queen Elena spoke kindly to her, asking her name and where she lived. The next day a grand footman brought little Beppina a parcel containing a pair of stockings, one of which was filled with sweets and cakes, while the other contained a purse with money to buy her a frock. A few days later the Queen received a letter badly written and worse spelled which said:

"Your Majesty—
"Your munificent present has caused me the greatest joy. My father has taken the money; my brother the cakes; and my mother the stockings."

"Beppina."

G. O. P. Setting Guns for Verbal Battles

Associated Press

FRANKFORT, Oct. 2.—Republicans today had lined up outside campaigners to match the democratic onslaught previously announced.

The spark has been touched with addresses of James J. Davis, secretary of Labor in Northern Kentucky campaigning, and fuel will be added by two former governors, Edwin P. Morrow and Frank O. Lowden, Illinois, the former speaking at Pikeville October 6th, the latter at Lexington, October 9th.

To counter visit of John W. Davis democratic presidential nominee set for Louisville, Charles G. Dawes, republican vice presidential nominee, will be offered, according to E. T. Franks, chairman of the republican speakers' bureau today.

Former Governor Leslie M. Shaw of Iowa and Senators Theodore E. Burton, Ohio, James Watson, Indiana, and George Warton Pepper, Pennsylvania, are among those lined up.

Clothing Needed

Many school children are in need of clothing, Mrs. Eunice Morris, public health nurse, says and any one who has children's garments to spare are requested to bring them to the principal's office at the Central school. Coats, shoes, sweaters and hats are in particular demand, though any child's garments will be gratefully accepted.

Diphtheria Malady In Middlesboro on Wane

The encouraging announcement that what threatened to be an epidemic of diphtheria is now on the wane here is made today. No new cases have developed and the four patients who are afflicted with the disease are improving.

Vaccination has been going forward as rapidly as possible. Pupils at the Junction and the East End schools have been vaccinated. The supply of points has been exhausted but others have been ordered and the work will be speeded.

Andrew Gump will be in Middlesboro on Armistice Day.

This assurance is contained in a telegram received by J. W. Smith from that individual who is canvassing the country in the interest of his campaign for president. Mr. Gump states—but read the Western Union message for yourself:

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 1. James W. Smith, Adjutant American Legion Middlesboro Ky. Your invitation on behalf of American Legion accepted with pleasure. In Middlesboro Armistice Day, say to citizens of Middlesboro that I must have their support for as Middlesboro goes so goes the country.

ANDREW GUMP
The nationally known figure and burlesque politician will be in Middlesboro only a short time, Mr. Smith says, but during that brief space Sidney Smith's chaotic creation will be able to impress upon Middlesboro people that it is their advantage to support him, for, "As Middlesboro goes, so goes the country."

What he will say here is, of course, not known, but it is not unlikely that he will make the broad statement that the country's prosperity is dependent entirely on Middlesboro's resources, that he will extend the glad hand of welcome to all sons of the hills who are present at its inauguration.

The fact that Andy Gump is to be brought here is evidence that the Middlesboro American Legion has some live wires who are capable of working up stunts which will equal, or even excel, those which made Middlesboro a Mecca for thousands of visitors on Independence Day.

FIRST FOOTBALL GAME TOMORROW

M. H. S. Plays Williamsburg Here Tomorrow Afternoon—Strong Lineup.

The first football game of the season will take place at the East End park tomorrow afternoon when the M. H. S. grid squad meets Williamsburg.

The local boys who have been in training for nearly a month are in splendid shape and hopeful of victory. Williamsburg is likely to prove a strong contender, however, and the game is certain to be replete with interest. Williamsburg has been playing football much longer than Middlesboro and last year it had a record team.

Indications are that a large number of football enthusiasts will attend the initial game of the season. Bleachers have been built on the west side of the field for use by those who wish to see the game sitting. The game will be called at 2:45 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Admission charges will be fifty cents for adults and twenty-five cents for school children. The game is scheduled to referee the game and Yeager and Houser will also be officials.

The probable lineup of the M. H. S. team is announced by Coach J. T. Kilpatrick today as follows: Yeary and Cullison, ends; Gibson, Capt. Chiland, tackle; Evans and Haynes, guards; Seyell, center; Lyons and Dean, halfbacks; Falyoner, fullbacks; Cooke, quarterback. Kinnaird, Spangler, Jacobs, Burell, Herd and others will get in the game.

ASHLAND, Oct. 2.—Judge Henry L. Woods handed down a decision in the case of W. H. Whitt against the Ashland Board of Education today, in favor of the defendant. Judge Woods based his opinion on the fact that the school board had acted in good faith and that it had a right to order a text even after the suit had been filed. The suit was the outgrowth of an alleged illegal adoption of text books by the board. According to the evidence, the geography text containing the Kentucky supplement had been adopted. The judge held that the board acted in good faith.

VIRGINIA WET
NOFOLK, Va., Oct. 2.—According to Rev. David Hepburn, secretary of the Virginia Anti-Saloon League, "the twelve good men and true" are not as good and as true as they ought to be in considering cases involving liquor violators after police have unearthed enough evidence to convict. As a consequence, prohibition is losing ground in the state, he says. Rev. Hepburn is collecting data in Norfolk on law enforcement and will publish the names of those jurors who failed to convict in liquor law cases. He hopes by this means to build up public sentiment and bring about stricter enforcement of the liquor law.

Kentucky exported $8,700,000.00 worth of tobacco during April, May and June, which was nearly $4,000,000 more than it exported during January, February and March.

Never Too Old to Vote

GREENSBORO, N. C., Oct. 2.—Robert Leonard, a native of Guilford county, now in his 104th year, will cast his first ballot at the November election.

Although he has been eligible to vote for 92 years, has seen 20 presidents occupy the White House, Leonard has never visited the polls. This year, however, he intends to vote—and he also says that he is going to walk to the polls with the rest of the folks.

"I didn't think the country would be materially helped by my vote," he says in explaining why he never exercised his citizenship rights. "Now they have convinced me that it is my duty. So I'll be there."

During the time that Leonard has been eligible to vote, James K. Polk, Zachary Taylor, Millard Fillmore, Franklin Pierce, James Buchanan, Abraham Lincoln, Andrew Johnson, Ulysses S. Grant, Rutherford B. Hayes, James A. Garfield, Chester A. Arthur, Grover Cleveland, Benjamin Harrison, William McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt, William H. Taft, Woodrow Wilson, Warren G. Harding and Calvin Coolidge have been president.

He has some very decided ideas about modern customs and practices of the young folks. He thinks night automobile riding by youngsters a great evil.

"Why, young girls stay up until 10 and 11 o'clock at nights now. Then they don't want to get up in the morning. I've always gone to bed about 7 o'clock at night and I get up early in the morning."

Leonard is not opposed to dancing—providing people wouldn't stay up too late to do it.

It is estimated that 15,000,000 tons of manure, worth about $25,000,000, go to waste in Kentucky annually. This sum is equal to about ten times the value of all the commercial fertilizers used in the state.

Y. M. C. A. REPORTS SUCCESSFUL YEAR

By Associated Press
NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Data available on 1,623 Young Men's Christian Associations in the United States and Canada, reporting for the 1924 Year Book and Official Roster, just issued, show the past association year to rank with, and in several important directions to exceed the record year of 1921. George B. Hodges, who has directed the collection and classification of association information for many years, states that "the reported volume and quality of association work as a whole has been the largest and best in association history, and much larger than was anticipated."

The largest annual increase in membership yet recorded is shown in a gain of 9.5 percent. The total membership of the reporting associations is 988,522, of which 211,520 are boys.

A gain of 11.6 percent to 124,977 in the number of men and boys in swimming and life saving classes, and a gain of 10.4 percent to 11,784 in the number of men under leadership instruction in physical education classes, are the features of an expanding year in the physical work of the associations. There were a total of 349,307 different men and boys in gymnasium classes, a gain of 3.1 percent.

Marked increase in the number of men and boys affiliated with Y. M. C. A. Bible classes is reported. A total of 232,963 for the year is a gain of 24,000 or 11.5 percent. Aggregate attendance at Bible and religious meetings reached approximately 9,549,000, an increase of 11.5 percent.

Endowment funds increased by 8.3 percent to $17,208,000, while the property debt increased by only 6.6 percent. An increase of the net association property to $159,521,000, 8.1 percent in the year, indicates the volume of property additions and is believed to mark the end of the deflation period of 1922-1923.

In a foreword Dr. John R. Mott, general secretary of the International Committee, Y. M. C. A., states that at the present time the Building Bureau of the committee is retained on some 75 building projects, and points to the multiplication of branch buildings both in large and middle-sized cities and the evolving of building plans and projects for cities or isolated communities of under 15,000 inhabitants. The Financial Service Bureau of the Committee, he says further, reports campaigns for funds for new buildings and for clearing off building indebtedness aggregating over $14,000,000. "It is a striking fact," Dr. Mott adds, "that in spite of all criticism and other handicaps, the associations today are raising sums which before the war would have seemed absolutely impossible." The latest "impossibility" is $3,000,000 subscribed by St. Louis citizens of all ranks and creeds for a city wide Y. M. C. A. development program.

MEN! DON'T COME HOME FAGGED OUT BY HARD WORK

Doctors say that in an enormous number of cases when men come home physically and mentally "all in," nervous and cranky, the real cause is not hard work, but thin, pale, watery blood, deficient in strength-giving iron. Once this iron is restored to the blood it is often astonishing how quickly these men gain new strength, nerve force and endurance.

But be sure the iron you take is organic iron—Nuxated Iron—and not the old-fashioned liquid medicines and pills made by the action of powerful acids on ordinary mineral iron. Nuxated Iron is a natural organic iron, like the iron in your own blood, and like that in spinach and lentils. Does not injure teeth nor disturb the stomach. So remarkable are the effects of Nuxated Iron that thousands of weak, nervous, fagged-out men and women have often increased their strength, energy, and endurance in only two weeks' time.

EXPECT TO BREAK WORLD AIR RECORD

Associated Press.

DAYTON, O., Oct. 2.—The world's airplane speed record of 243.68 miles an hour, made by Lieutenant A. J. Williams, U. S. Navy, in the Pulitzer races at St. Louis a year ago, is expected to be beaten by one of the three United States army aviators entered in this event at the International Air races to be held here October 2, 3, and 4.

The navy will not take part in the races this year. This decision, made early last winter, conforms to a policy whereby the army is responsible for the defense of the Pulitzer trophy against international competitors, and the navy accepts a similar responsibility with respect to the international seaplane races for the Schneider Cup trophy.

The navy will defend this trophy against competitors from Great Britain and Italy at Chesapeake Bay near Baltimore on October 24 and 25.

There are no entrants for the Pulitzer race this year outside of the three United States army men. They will fly planes that won the Pulitzer race at St. Louis last year. Two of the planes, reconditioned Curtiss army racers, will be flown by Lieutenant W. H. Brookley of McCook field and Captain Hurl Steel of Selfridge Field, Mich. Lieutenant Harry H. Mills, of Wilbur Wright field, will fly a Ver-ville-Sperry monoplane.

Wright field, where the races will be held this year has 5300 acres and a grand stand a mile long is being built for the spectators.

In order that those who attend may hear as well as see, loud speakers will be installed at intervals of 300 feet along the grand stand and connected with the judges' and timers' stand at the start and finish of the 200 kilometer triangular course.

WHEN ARE BUILDING COSTS COMING DOWN?

They are coming down when the prices for all raw materials—lumber, iron, steel, and everything else that enters into the construction of a house—sink to old levels; and when labor costs come down. And by labor costs is not meant simply the wages of carpenters, plumbers, tanners, cement workers, glaziers, painters, and other craftsmen who labor on the actual construction of the house itself, but the wages of all labor from the point of origin to the ultimate consumer.

Among others: the wages of the lumberjack in the Washington forests, of the iron miner in Missouri, of the coal miner in Pennsylvania, of the glass-blower, the mill worker, the foundry man, etc., etc., in a long list winding up with the wages of truckmen, trainmen, porters, and all those who have anything to do with the handling or transportation of material.

When will this drop come? Who can say? Most economic experts hold that building prices generally will not come down to any great extent for at least eight years, and probably ten; and even then prices will not be what they were before the War.

Do you want to wait eight or ten years before acquiring your own home on the remote chance of a big drop in prices? Is it worth it? Independent of our own possible interest in the matter, our advice is: Buy NOW! You will be settled in your own home for years, enjoying its comforts and satisfactions, while the man who complains of high prices will still be waiting, waiting—

PROPER PRIDE
I am the captain of the boat
That sails the bath-tub sea.
She is the smartest ship afloat
And she was built by me.

Her masts and spars are all complete,
Her rigging well designed;
You could not find in any fleet
A boat more to your mind.

I stand beside the gleaming shore
And blow the steady gales
Which fill her swelling sails.

When soapy waves run fore and aft,
She proudly crests the foam;
At spanking pace, my tidy craft
Comes swiftly, heavily home.

Our voyage is splendid sport!
We care not for the storm,
But sail serenely into port
On water cold or warm.

SEES BIG FUTURE AIR DEVELOPMENT

Capt. H. Billingsley, Middlesboro visitor and native of Clifton county who has distinguished himself in winning national and international marksmanship competitions and in the air service of the United States army, sees a great future for aviation. He has first hand information on the Dayton world air races beginning today and is able to speak with authority on the subject.

The International Air Races will be held at Dayton, O., October 2, 3, and 4, when thirty magnificent machines and more than $100,000 in cash will be donated to the winners," he explained. Speaking of the wonderful progress of aviation, he stated:

Just fifteen years ago thirty-eight entries representing different nations were made in the competition on the plains of Reims, France, to compare the skill of the aviators in the air. A few of the favorites of that day, well known pioneers, were: Bleriot, the French flier who crossed the English channel, Latham Summers and Glenn H. Curtis, the latter perhaps having done more for the advancement of aviation than any other man in the world. The race was won by Mr. Curtis who drove his plane at the then great speed of forty-seven miles per hour. Latham won the altitude record by flying to the height of 490 feet. The long distance record was won by Mr. Farman who traveled 111 miles in the air without a stop. He also won the load carrying contest when he rose 300 feet with 280 pounds.

Capt. Billingsley compared these records with those of today. In 1923, Lieut. Williams, of the U. S. Navy flew his racing plane at the terrific rate of 265 miles per hour. Lieutenant McReady went more than seven miles high into the frozen air, while one of our bombing planes rose to 5,000 feet in the air with a load of 5,612 pounds. "I believe that all records will again be broken by the daring American aviators at the Dayton meet," the aviator declared. "Attemps will be made to fly more than 300 miles per hour. A load of 10,000 pounds will soon be carried ten miles high. One foreign aeronautical engineer of wide reputation has stated that in five years aviators will be flying at the rate of 1,000 miles per hour at an altitude of ten miles. Think of crossing the continent in less than three hours, and think of dropping 10,000 pounds of T. N. T. on a city. One such bomb dropped on Middlesboro would tear down every building within a radius of ten miles.

KENTUCKY GIRLS WIN IN CONTEST

Three Henderson County Girls Win In National Vegetable Competition.

LEXINGTON, Oct. 2.—Henderson county, Kentucky, won the national vegetable growing contest for junior agricultural demonstration teams, held at the recent National Vegetable Growers' Association convention in Louisville, Kentucky. The Kentucky team was composed of Barbara Alexander, Beatrice Alexander and Ruby Jewell Cummings, three club girls who were trained by Miss Anna M. Street, home demonstration agent in Henderson county. The winners received $100, given by the Vegetable Growers' Journal, and a wheel cultivator given by S. L. Allen & Company. Their demonstration was entitled, "Winter Vegetables for Spring Crops."

The Jefferson county team from Kentucky, composed of Robert Deibel and Catherine Felker, trained by Assistant County Agent L. H. Woodhouse, won second in the contest, and received $75 from the Vegetable Growers' Journal and S. L. Allen & Company. Campbell county, Ky., was fourth. Its team was composed of Margaret Baker and Freda Fiske, trained by Home Demonstration Agent Mary Ella Rudy. E. E. Fisk, field agent in charge for the Kentucky College of Agriculture, was in charge of the contest.

Many Club Members Enjoy Life at Camp

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 2.—Nearly 2,500 Kentucky farm boys and girls, members of junior agricultural clubs, were this year given outings or vacations in club camps conducted by the College of Agriculture, the State Y. M. C. A., and the State Board of Health, according to a report of J. W. Whitehouse, state club leader at the College of Agriculture.

The largest camp was in Russell county, where 196 club members and local leaders attended. The camps in Clay, Owsley, Laurel, and Jackson, Lee, Morgan and Russell counties had an attendance of more than 100 each. The Owsley county camp was visited by more than 4,000 people during the week. The health of the campers was looked after by the State Board of Health, while entertainment and instruction were provided by the Y. M. C. A., and the College of Agriculture.

"The days being shorter in October the tourist is likely to have many miles of his run in the dark which, in itself, is a matter calling for precaution. Many persons who forget that summer is waning in October continue to figure that they can travel just as many miles by daylight in October as in August. The result is they frequently find it necessary to blunder their way along over strange roads in the dark.

Cold days in October, and particularly cold nights, call for the rain curtains in the case of open cars. Frequently the driver is not accustomed to driving closed in, and unless he takes precautions against

NAVAL COLLEGES OPEN THIS MONTH

Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The first courses in the newly established schools for reserve naval officers will be operative in October at George Washington University, of Washington, D. C., and St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., with half a dozen institutions in line for similar co-operative effort. Among those proffering assistance is the University of Seattle.

Planned under the general line of the R. O. T. C. of the army, the navy schools are designed to furnish select and trained material for the commissioned reserve. It is expected that the privilege of participating in the practice cruise made each summer by the academy classes to European ports will be a strong incentive to civilian students.

The courses will cover the regular four year tuition of the college student, at least three hours a week on naval subjects being required the first year. Subjects included in this classification will be credited toward the university degree.

Students electing the naval course will be enrolled as midshipmen, naval reserve and upon completion will be commissioned as reserve ensigns. While on active duty the midshipmen will receive the pay of their grade, amounting to $89.00 per month. The first uniform outfit will be furnished gratis. Upon graduation, the officer will receive two months' full pay annually, regardless of whether called to duty or not.

being fooled by "blind spots" in the glare an accident may be the result.

It is fine to get up early on an October morning, jump into the car and enjoy the advantage of a early start on the day's journey, but it is hazardous to imagine that you are the only party to get an early start. Many accidents are the direct result of the early motorist's imagining that he has the whole road to himself.

Buenos Aires to Buy New Xanni Seaplane

By Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 2.—Patriotic enthusiasm over the around the world flight of the Argentine aviator, Major Pedro Zamli, was so great that when it was announced that funds were needed to purchase another seaplane for his trans-atlantic flight, it only took a few days to collect a "harrel" of money.

The larrel was placed at a busy street corner where people could drop in their contributions. When opened at a theatre before a large audience it was found to contain nearly 60,000 pesos, mostly in peso bills. Subscriptions opened by newspapers raised the sum to 100,000 pesos, nearly all of it having been collected after the loss of Zamli's land plane at Hanoi, and when it was not certain whether he would continue his flight after arriving in Japan.
